

This calendar allows you to see items that have been posted many months into the future or to review past months. Near the top of the calendar in the right column is the link to next month's posted events. The top left column allows you to review the previous month.

Beneath the calendar are some additional options. The "Jump to month" provides a list of months so that you can jump directly to a specified month without the need to click through all the in-between months.

The Print-friendly link takes you to a plain vanilla version of the calendar and it will print without the background colors thereby taking it easy on your printer ink. The calendar can be rotated and/or shrunk so that it can be printed on one sheet of paper.

For those of you who would like to export the displayed events to Microsoft Outlook or another application that uses CSV values, the "Export Events Displayed" link gives directions for doing that.

Finally, if you want just certain types of events to show on the calendar page or to print you can "Filter Events". This option allows you to remove the check marks from any events you do not want to see - for example golf - and then click "Apply Changes" and the calendar will refresh with only the categories of events that you have check-marked.
